

DICK WILL FAVOR FORAKER IN OHIO POLITICAL CONTEST

Makes a Statement at Akron That He Will Do His Best

FOR HIS OHIO COLLEAGUE

News of the Buckeye State Told in Brief Paragraphs for Busy Readers--The Ohio Situation.

Akron, O., April 23.—Senator Charles Dick spent the day looking after some of his private affairs. In a statement given out here the senator declared that in the coming political contest in Ohio he will do whatever he can for his colleague, Senator Foraker. Senator Dick further said: "I do not know whether Senator Foraker will open up headquarters or not. If the contest should fall between President Roosevelt and Senator Foraker, the vote now would probably favor the president. A year from the coming June, however, the result would be different. I am sure that if Senator Foraker should be made president he would not carry out a reactionary policy that would cripple the railroad development of the country." Senator Dick will visit the Jamestown exposition upon invitation of Governor Harris, and will spend several days on that trip. He will pass through Columbus en route for Jamestown Wednesday morning. In the party going to Jamestown are Secretary of State Carmel A. Thompson, State Auditor Walter D. Gullbert, Adjutant General A. B. Critchfield and others.

STILL DEADLOCKED IN RHODE ISLAND ON SENATORSHIP

Providence, R. I., April 23.—After 13 weeks of deadlock, during which time 56 ballots were cast for United States senator to succeed George P. Wetmore, the Republican state central committee voted 9 to 4 in favor of Colonel Samuel P. Colt of Bristol and urged that all Republican members of the general assembly cast their votes for the man who, throughout the deadlock, polled the majority of the party votes. WAR SECRETARY TALKS OF TRIP

Found Conditions Fair in Panama, Porto Rico and Cuba.

LEAVES FOR OHIO THIS WEEK

Will Speak About the Isthmian Canal Before the Cincinnati Business Men's Club, and at Dayton Will At- tend the Laying of a Cornerstone. Mr. Taft's Observations.

Washington, April 23.—Secretary of War Taft and party arrived here on board the Mayflower, after an absence of exactly a month on a trip that included Panama, Cuba and Porto Rico. The secretary and Mrs. Taft were immediately driven to their residence. Beekman Winthrop, former governor of Porto Rico, and Mrs. Winthrop were guests of the secretary on the return trip. The others in the party included Representatives Burton of Ohio and DeArmond of Missouri.

Secretary Taft gave out a statement in which he says he found matters in Cuba "in what, under the circumstances, must be considered a very satisfactory condition," that there is every ground for hope that the plan adopted for a census, preliminary election and then a general election six months later, will result in the selection of a president and congress who will be able to maintain themselves and give stable rule to the island; and that the delay in taking a census is taken by the Cubans as an earnest of the American government's desire to secure a stable government before it leaves, "so there shall be no excuse for a second intervention." He says that next Friday he will go to Cincinnati to attend a Yale club meeting, will then address the Dayton (O.) Y. M. C. A., and on Monday night will discuss the Panama canal before the Cincinnati Business Men's club.

Mr. Taft says that in Panama the engineers reported to him that the foundations for the sites of the locks were entirely satisfactory, and he discussed administrative matters he took up in Panama. In Porto Rico conditions were found satisfactory.

The balloon landed in a creek and both occupants were rather severely shaken up when the basket struck, but were not seriously injured.

New Orleans, April 23.—Nine negro inmates of the parish jail will be used by the state board of health in a five-weeks' test to learn whether sugar molasses as it has been manufactured in Louisiana for many years is injurious to human health. Sulphuric acid is used in the Louisiana process, and the use of this chemical was recently stopped under an interpretation of the pure food law. The experiment consists in feeding the negroes plenty of molasses and making blood tests. President Irion of the state board of health said that no possible harm could come to the negroes.

HAUNTED HOUSE SAYS MRS. THAW IN A STATEMENT

Press Accounts Have Brought Forth a State ment

FROM HARRY THAW'S MOTHER

No Movement is Made for Change of Venue by Either Side---Latest Developments.

Pittsburg, April 23.—In a statement issued to the public, Mrs. Mary C. Thaw, mother of Harry Thaw, gives the facts concerning a suicide in her home in this city eight years ago. Mrs. Thaw states some newspapers have distorted the facts. She says: "In the 18 years during which I occupied Lyndhurst it is safe to say that the number of ministers and their families for whom it was a stopping place reached many scores. Among these was the wife of a former assistant to the pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, of which I and my family are members. After her husband had resigned from that position they both engaged in teaching in a seminary in the central part of Pennsylvania.

"Later I heard that the wife had become an invalid, suffering from nervous prostration, with a tinge of melancholia. Then I heard that the husband had received a call from a church in Kentucky.

"I invited the invalid wife to visit me at Lyndhurst while preparations for leaving the old home and settling in the new were under way, believing that the change of scene, rest, medical care and careful nursing would be beneficial. I returned from an afternoon reception one day and, not finding her in the library, sent a maid to her room, who reported that the door of the bath room was locked and she could get no answer. This alarmed all of us.

"I ordered the gardener to enter by a window, when the startling discovery was made that the poor woman had ended her life in the manner described in the highly colored account given in one Pittsburg and some of the eastern newspapers. The family physician was immediately sent for. The husband was telegraphed to. The pastor of the Third church and his wife came also, and he very kindly offered to accompany the remains to Kentucky and conduct the funeral services. The doctor on his arrival said it would be necessary to have the coroner. The coroner was sent for and all the usual formalities attended to. Stripped of all useless verbiage, these are the facts in the case."

No Change of Venue.

New York, April 23.—Clifford W. Hartridge, of counsel for Harry K. Thaw said that, so far as he knew, no movement was contemplated looking toward holding the second Thaw trial at Binghamton. He expressed the opinion that Thaw's second trial, like the first, would be held in New York city. Mr. Hartridge interpreted the visit to Binghamton of Attorneys Delmas and McKee as a social call upon superintendent Wagner of the asylum there. Wagner was a prominent witness for the defense in the Thaw trial. District Attorney Jerome stated that he had no intention of either asking for or consenting to a change of venue for the next trial of Harry K. Thaw. "There is no reason why the case should not be tried in New York," he said. "I shall certainly not ask for a change of venue and will just as certainly fight an application for a change if the defense makes one."

Sailors Want More Pay.

Baltimore, April 23.—General Manager Stebbins of the Merchants and Miners' Transportation company said that demands for an increase of wages had been presented by the first, second and third officers of the line, and that the company had the matter under consideration. The men threaten to go out May 1 unless their demands are granted. The company operates a fleet of 17 steamers between Baltimore, Newport News, Norfolk, Boston, Philadelphia and Savannah, Ga.

It is by no means too late to enter the Advocate's Jamestown Exposition Contest. Several young women have said that they are sorry now that they didn't enter the contest at the opening and have declared that if they had known that the contestants would all be of such high character as they are, they certainly would have filed their applications.

The voting started only four days ago and the big contest is really just starting. Any energetic young woman who will give the coupon and subscription getting a little systematic attention has just as good a chance of winning as have any of the young women who are already entered in the friendly race.

Every young woman has her own circle of friends and acquaintances and every one of them will help her willingly. The fact that Miss _____ has secured the promise of support from Blank need not deter you from entering. You will easily find others who will work and vote for you. Once a name is announced, friends in unexpected quarters will cast votes and save coupons for the candidate.

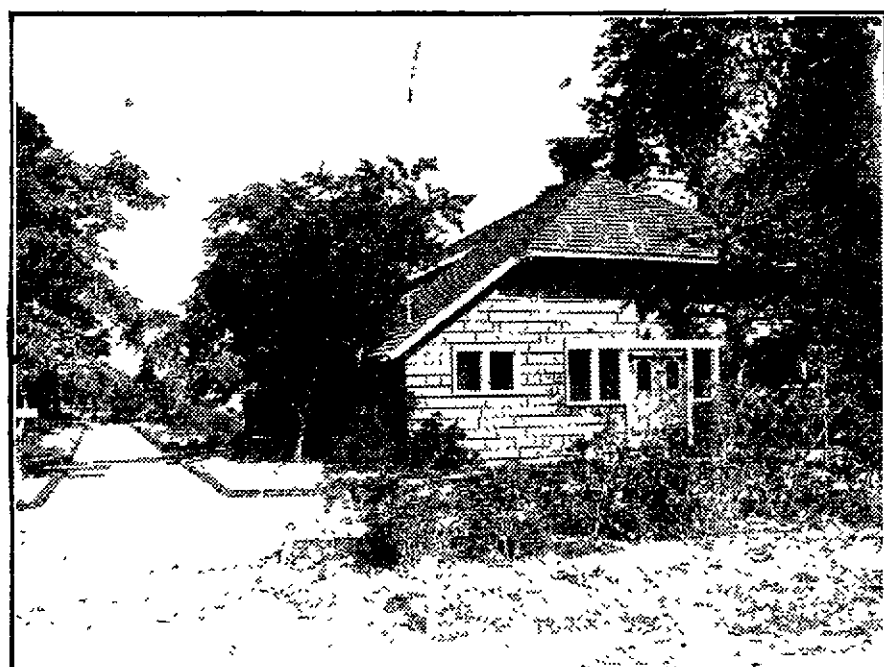

Every Daily Advocate subscriber who pays a year in advance for the paper saves 70 cents, providing he has been paying for it by the week or if he has been buying the paper daily, the saving is $1.75. When this fact is presented to the subscriber and when the young lady adds that a year's subscription means 1,000 votes for her, she rarely has difficulty in getting the thousand votes.

New subscribers are secured just as easily and nine out of every ten will be glad to help when their help will mean so much to the contestant.

Many a similar contest has been won by young ladies who did not enter on the opening day. All that is required is intelligent effort, a circle of friends and stick-to-it-iveness.

The first vote will be announced on Saturday, April 27, and daily

We desire that the friends of all old soldiers who have died and been buried in any of the cemeteries of Licking county, and have no markers at their graves, will furnish the name of such soldier and the company and regiment in which he served, and where buried—also the name and address of the person furnishing such information. If the proper data can be secured, a good marble marker can be secured for all soldiers graves. Won't you help to do this? All such information should be given to the superintendent of Cedar Hill Cemetery at Newark, as he understands just how to proceed to secure the soldiers markers. Do not fail to send above information. R. C. Bigbee, Commander of Lement Post, G. A. R.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of the tube, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SPLENDID TO USE.

This is the most effective and most reliable system of Blood disorders of all kinds, of which Rheumatism is the most prevalent symptom.

And hardest to overcome during the winter months, when the kidneys have failed to filter out the uric acid and other waste matter.

A well known authority writes that the worst forms of Rheumatism, Blood disorders, also Kidney and Bladder weakness are often readily relieved and prevented during an entire year by taking for a little while one teaspoonful of the following mixture after meals and at bedtime, viz:

Fluid Extract Dandelion one-half ounce, Compound Kargon one ounce, Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla three ounces.

A local druggist states that these are harmless ingredients, which any good prescription pharmacy can supply and anyone can easily mix them at home by shaking in a bottle.

It is said by many of the old folks that the above mixture, if taken during this month, will add years to life and prevent many a sick and miserable day during the year.

MRS. SCOTT DEAD AT LANCASTER

Mr. Scott Had Rented House on West Main Street For His Mother When Death Interfered.

Mr. H. H. Scott, sporting editor of the American-Tribune, received a message Monday evening calling him to the bedside of his mother at her home in Lancaster, O. At 10:05 p. m., before Mr. Scott reached his home, his mother had passed away as a result of a short illness from bronchial pneumonia.

Mr. Scott was in Lancaster over Sunday with his mother, who appeared much improved and left at 5 o'clock Monday morning feeling much encouraged. However, he was shocked in the evening to receive the summons to her side.

Aside from the unusual bond of love and affection between Mr. Scott and his mother, a decidedly pathetic feature of the death is the fact that a house had been rented here, on W. Main street, by Mr. Scott, and it was his intention to have his mother come here to live with him. In fact, it was just about the time that the arrangement had been made that Mrs. Scott became ill.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds: It strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help. If you would have strong hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

THE WORST CLIMATES.

Three Places Where Weather Conditions Are Unbearable.

"Speaking of rank climates," said a globe trotter, "I have experienced the three worst."

"Of these three unspeakable climates I give the palm to the strait of Magellan. There is rain on an average 250 days in the year. The wind blows a hurricane from January to December. The thermometer never rises much above the freezing point—a year round of raw, bitter days of rain and snow."

"Next comes Sierra Leone, on the African west coast. That low lying marshy region has an average temperature of 81 degrees, and the annual rainfall is 189 inches—enormous! There are, too, the 'smokes.' These are mists, smelling like oyster mud, that rise continually from the marshes, giving marsh fever to nine out of ten of the white men that breathe them—a year round of hot and sticky days, with vile smelling clouds of mist and whirling clouds of mosquitoes."

"Last come the high tablelands of central Asia, where the lack of moisture in the air makes the days sultry and the nights arctic—days like a red-hot furnace, nights like a January blizzard. Before this range of temperature no human constitution can stand up."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Married Women

Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. A NEW SAN FRANCISCO

How the Burned City Is Being Rebuilt.

THIRTY MILLIONS FOR LABOR.

Forty Thousand Men Have Received This Sum in Wages—Many Homes Have Been Constructed by Owners With Their Own Hands.

One year after the earthquake and fire which wiped out all the business section of San Francisco and at least half of the residence portion the transformation from acres of gaunt skeletons of ruined buildings and heaps of brick to the beginnings of a well ordered city is little short of marvelous, writes a San Francisco correspondent of the New York Tribune. All the skyscrapers are restored or in process of restoration, so that they present few traces of the whirlwind of flame through which they have passed, and scores of substantial buildings of brick and stone have arisen on the main business streets to mark the confidence of property owners in the future of a greater San Francisco than the one that was swept by fire.

In the residence sections of North Beach and the Mission the reconstruction has been nothing short of marvelous. Here the fire ordinances permit the erection of wooden buildings, and whole blocks have been rebuilt in far better style than before the disaster. One feature of the rebuilding at North Beach has been the large amount of work done by the owners with their own hands.

This section is largely Italian and Spanish, and these Latin races have shown a true disregard of the exactions of the labor unions. With carpenters demanding $6 a day and bricklayers $5 a day, these people have suddenly discovered that building is not a black art. They have laid their own brick walls, and they have handled the saw and plane as though they had actually learned the ancient trade of the carpenter. Many of these homes actually have been constructed at evening and early morning in the owners' hours of leisure and on Sundays and Saturday half holidays. Many of these men have not only built the woodwork of their homes, but they have shingled the roofs, plastered the walls and painted their new homes. Any Sunday the observer at North Beach and the fringe of Telegraph Hill may see hundreds of swarthy men completing the homes which would never have been theirs had they waited to hire workmen at the present excessive cost of labor.

The work of reconstruction, especially in the business district, meant the repair of streets and sidewalks, the installation of electric light, gas and power, the rehabilitation of the skyscrapers which were merely gutted and the clearing away of bricks and twisted steel and the rebuilding of class B and class C structures. The extent of this task can be appreciated only by one who has actually taken part in such work. And it was made more difficult in San Francisco by the distance from the east, which supplies structural steel, terra cotta and many other kinds of building material. Orders for materials had to be in three or four months before they could be filled, and then there was another long wait before the railroads could deliver them.

It is estimated that 40,000 men have been engaged in this work of rebuilding San Francisco, none of whom received less than $2 a day for their labor. Bricklayers received $8 a day, carpenters $5 to $6, plumbers $6, lathers $6, painters $5, and even the unskilled men who have removed debris and cleaned bricks have received $2 a day. A careful estimate gives $30,000,000 spent for labor in eleven months of rebuilding, for during the first month after the fire very little real work was done aside from building shacks for refugees and putting up one-story temporary stores in the burned district. The same estimate gives $35,000,000 spent for materials during this period and $10,000,000 spent by merchants in restoring their stocks of goods.

Of the thirty-five class A buildings which were left gutted after the fire all have been repaired or are in process of repair. Only one—the Kohl, or old Alvinza Hayward building, at the northeast corner of Montgomery and California streets—was practically uninjured by the fire. This was due to the metal window sills and the fact that the building was surrounded by very low buildings. Of the others several are near completion, like the Merchants' Exchange building, while others, like the Flood building and the new Chronicle and the Mutual Savings bank buildings, are now occupied and practically completed.

The work of reconstruction of these class A buildings has been very heavy, as most of the exterior stone had to be replaced. On the St. Francis hotel about one-third of the stone facing was removed and about an equal amount of the Shreve building. The outer walls of the Merchants' Exchange building were practically rebuilt, and the same process will be necessary with the Mills building. It is a curious fact that granite suffered more than any other stone from the heat. The fine granite Corinthian pillars on the Hilbert bank, the most beautiful in the city, were scaled off by the heat and practically ruined. All the granite curbs of the sidewalks were chipped off by the heat.

Before the fire San Francisco had more hotels and lodging houses to the population than any city of its size in the country. After the fire many apartment houses beyond the fire line were converted into hotels, but inside the burned district at least a score of hotels are rapidly approaching completion, while three apartment hotels have been opened. The new hotel district promises to be between Van Ness and Powell streets and Post and Market streets. In this district, which was formerly given up largely to apartment houses and private residences, many large hotels have been begun, and half a dozen are nearing completion, none containing less than 150 rooms. The new Palace hotel will be an enormous structure on the site of the old hotel, but it will require two years to complete it. There are probably more restaurants in the city now than before the fire, as the great number of men employed in rebuilding must be fed and lodged near the scene of their labors.

The tendency of business is to seek the old quarters occupied before the fire. The real estate and banking houses have gone back to their old sites, and this has carried all allied business to Montgomery and Sansome streets. Kearney street promises to become one of the great retail streets, as it was before the fire, but Post street and Grant avenue will be improved. All the streets running from Market up to Van Ness south of Sutter street will be devoted entirely to business and hotels and apartment houses, as under the fire regulations it will be impossible to build in this district in wood. The old Nob Hill district promises to be rebuilt largely with apartment houses and hotels.

Chinatown, which it was suggested before the fire should be removed to the Potrero, is back in its location, the Chinese merchants surpassing their white rivals in the energy with which they have restored their business places.

To sum up, it may be said that by another anniversary of the disaster more than half of the burned district will be covered with permanent buildings, and five years will see it completely restored. Portions of the residence district will be rehabilitated more slowly unless the fire ordinances are relaxed, for it will be impossible to get returns from brick buildings for residences on such streets as Powell, Mason, Taylor, Jones and Leavenworth from Bush to Sutter.

The main feature of building is the large use of re-enforced concrete, which before the fire was barred by the labor unions. The latter attempted to prevent the use of concrete after the fire, but they found that public sentiment was against them.

CORNELL MUCH ALIVE.

Dr. Mitchell of London Says It Fits Men Better Than Oxford.

The ordinary man turned out at Cornell is much better fitted to face the world than the average graduate from Oxford, and the elaboration of organization at Cornell far surpasses that at the English university, according to Dr. P. Chalmers Mitchell, secretary of the Royal Zoological Society of London, in a recent talk to Cornell students. But he thinks the honor man at Oxford is the best equipped man in the world, says a special dispatch from Ithaca, N. Y., to the New York World.

He said the view at Cornell was the most beautiful he had ever seen. Cornell was so "tremendously comfortable," while at Oxford they were so inconvenienced, he added. The old buildings at Oxford do not even boast of a bathtub. He found Cornell very much alive and unlike Oxford. It had no traditions.

Dr. Mitchell said that American education threw men upon their own resources, while at Oxford a man can be too much dry nursed, his work being done by his tutors.

How Carnegie Does Things.

There is a largeness about the way in which Mr. Carnegie does things that excites admiration, says Leslie's Weekly. When he founds libraries, endows institutions or grants benefactions it is on a generous scale. He carries the same proclivity into his social life and entertains with a boundfulness as ample as it is in good taste. This was illustrated recently in Mr. Carnegie's treatment of many prominent persons from across the sea whom he invited to attend the dedication of the Carnegie Institute at Pittsburgh. These guests not only had their transportation expenses paid by their host, but were also provided at his cost with accommodations at the finest hotels while they were in this country. This breaks the record for American hospitality to foreign visitors.

An Artificial Island.

The war department has determined upon plans for the building of an artificial island at the entrance to Chesapeake bay, says Harper's Weekly. This island will be built up from a submerged ledge and will be made sufficiently large to contain, besides a battery to command the approach to the bay's entrance, quarters and barracks for men and a parade ground for drill, together with suitable storehouses for provisions and ammunition which would be required for a protracted period. A part of the programme is the construction of an artificial harbor to accommodate the supply of boats and submarines, the latter to form an adjunct of the coast defense system.

One of the Important Duties of Physicians and the Well-Informed of the World is to learn as to the relative standing and reliability of the leading manufacturers of medicinal agents, as the most eminent physicians are the most careful as to the uniform quality and perfect purity of remedies prescribed by them, and it is well known to physicians and the Well-Informed generally that the California Fig Syrup Co., by reason of its correct methods and perfect equipment and the ethical character of its product has attained to the high standing in scientific and commercial circles which is accorded to successful and reliable houses only, and, therefore, that the name of the Company has become a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy.

TRUTH AND QUALITY

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing, therefore we wish to call the attention of all who would enjoy good health, with its blessings, to the fact that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and the use of medicines dispensed with generally to great advantage, but as in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time, the California Fig Syrup Co. feels that it is alike important to present truthfully the subject and to supply the one perfect laxative remedy which has won the approval of physicians and the world-wide acceptance of the Well-Informed because of the excellence of the combination, known to all, and the original method of manufacture, which is known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., and the same heretofore known by the name—Syrup of Figs—which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., that the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.

A MISTAKEN IDEA.

But Just the Same the Cook Gave Very Short Notice.

"Our priceless jewel of a cook has left us, and my wife says that I am to blame," says Jones, with a sorry grin. "The worst of it is that my wife is right."

"Mary had been with us for over ten years, and we had begun to think that we owned her. She had but one fault, and that was that she sometimes overslept and delayed the early breakfast that I am obliged to have."

"To remedy this I bought an alarm clock, and after explaining to the cook how it worked I told her that hereafter I expected her to arise immediately after the alarm sounded."

"The next morning I was awakened by a heavy crash from the cook's room, and while I was wondering what the trouble was there was a crash against my bedroom door, and the voice of Mary said:

"There's your old alarm clock, an' it's meself that'll no longer stay in a place where a poor hardworking girl's life is in danger."

"I arose at once and investigated. It seems that the bed in the cook's room was an old one and not very stout, and when the alarm sounded the cook awoke with a jump that shook the bed to pieces and threw her out on the floor."

"I tried my best to convince her that it was an accident and not a part of the clock's duties to throw her out of bed every morning, but she wouldn't be convinced that the clock didn't have a hand in it and left"—Detroit Free Press.

One way to stand well with the women is to "up your seat" to them in a crowded car.

How German Beats English.

"We speakers of English," said a lecturer, "are handicapped by our language. We can never hope for such sonorous titles as the German's have."

"A young German matron once said: 'Ach, how glad I am that my dear Fritz has been appointed hauptkassenverwaltungsassistent—assistant cashier. 'Now,' she went on, 'in my title of hauptkassenverwaltungsassistentin I boast of five letters more than that proud oberhofsteneramtsinspectorin—excise inspector's wife—can claim.'"

Why the Market Wobbles.

The financial balance is so extremely delicate that the slightest movement affects it and throws it out of gear. I once heard of an important "deal" being spoiled because a prominent financier had his big toe cut by a chiropodist so badly that he was obliged to keep his room.—Maurice Maugham in Grand Magazine.

Announcement.

For over ten years physicians have been prescribing Lantz's Diuretic Pill in cases indicated by kidney or bladder trouble.

The pills have given such uniformly satisfactory results that to-day they are being prescribed by physicians all over the country, and are most highly recommended by the profession.

Although many sufferers have been relieved in this way, we have felt all along that a medicine of such unquestionable merit should have a much wider distribution than could ever be secured through the good offices of the doctors.

Most people fail to realize the danger of kidney or bladder troubles, and, unless the case is very aggravated, will not go to the inconvenience and expense of consulting a physician.

For these reasons, we have ceased to make the physicians our sole distributing agents, and are now offering Lantz's Diuretic Pill direct to the public, through the druggists, under the name of Lantz's Red Kidney Pills, at 50 cents a box.

The formula of Lantz's Red Kidney Pills is exactly the same as the formula of Lantz's Diuretic Pill.

To those who have never used the Pills, we give a two days' trial treatment free. We don't ask you to buy until you have given them a trial.

A registered guaranty is put in every 50c box, and if the Pills don't benefit you, we will cheerfully refund your money.

Medical statistics show that 73 per cent. of all persons over the age of 40 have kidney trouble in some form, and that almost every man or woman past the age of 50 is afflicted with either kidney or bladder trouble, or both.

The secret of health lies in keeping the kidneys active, and free from casts which clog up the tubes. All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys, and when the kidneys are active they remove all the impurities from the blood, passing them off through the urine.

Healthy kidneys, good blood; good, pure blood; good health.

Nothing will cleanse and heal your kidneys so effectively as Lantz's Red Kidney Pills; physicians and patients everywhere recommend them.

Cleanse Your Kidneys With Lantz's Red Kidney Pills.

If you have never used these Pills, we will gladly give you a two days' trial treatment free.

WORK ON SOUTHWEST PASS.

New Era For Mississippi Valley When Jetties Are Completed.

In about one year and a half, hardly any sooner, Southwest pass, the widest of the three outlets of the Mississippi river into the gulf of Mexico, will be thrown open to the navigation of the world by reason of having attained the necessary depth of water for the passage of the deepest draft ships, says the New Orleans Times-Democrat. Work upon the jetties, by means of which the channel of the river is being deepened, is nearing completion. There remains about 30,000 feet of concrete wall to be built. This will require about eight months more, possibly a little longer, and fifteen more mats to be sunk. When this is done and after the dredge boats shall have withdrawn their suction pipes a new era will dawn for the valley of the Mississippi, and another mile post will be added to the progress in the development of New Orleans.

Official notification will be given to the commerce of nations when ships will be allowed to make their way to New Orleans through the watery passage on which the government has already expended $2,225,500. For the deepening of the pass congress recommended the appropriation of $6,000,000, the estimated cost.

To the layman the idea of jetty, as a rule, conveys a hazy conception of something which is built out at the mouth of the river to deepen the channel, but in the last analysis it is as simple as could be imagined. The jetties in Southwest pass consist of nothing more nor less than a long cement wall four miles in length projecting out of the shallow water at the mouth of the river. The wall, which is now being built, rests on a foundation which consists of mats made of willows, on which rest several thicknesses of stones. On this foundation rests the wall. The mats and wall make the jetties.

The jetties create a current which carries away with it far into the gulf or around to the sides the sediment or soft sand which comes down in great quantities from that tremendous stretch of 4,800 miles, which is the actual length of the Mississippi river from its source to its mouth.

The suction dredge, by means of which the soft sand of the channel is being sucked up and pumped into deep water, was first applied successfully by Q. A. Gilmore, United States corps of engineers. In 1888 and 1889 Colonel Ernest H. Ruffner applied it to the upper Mississippi with great success.

To restrain this formation of land and the making of sand bars, which impeded the ingress and egress of vessels, is the object of creating a current through the jetties. Extending some four miles into the gulf, they confine the waters of the river for that distance between their walls, and in the flow the sand is swept far into the deep. Here it gradually disperses itself over the bottom of the gulf. The current of the river acts as its own agent.

TO HONOR MARTYRS.

Contract For Prison Ship Monument to Revolutionary Heroes.

Every patriotic American is interested in the monument to the prison ship martyrs to be erected in Fort Greene park, Brooklyn, the contract for which has just been awarded. The monument will mark the burial site of the Revolutionary soldiers who died on the old British prison ship Jersey.

The memorial will be completed within two years. The design is by the late Stanford White, and it is said that it is about the last work he did. The monument will be 200 feet in height and nine feet in diameter. It will be built of white Newport granite and will be supplied with an elevator. There will be bronze trimmings, and a bronze urn will ornament the top. There will be white granite approaches along a plaza reaching to Myrtle avenue. The approach will be 300 feet long and will have three sets of stairs 100 feet wide. All of the approach is to be of solid white marble.

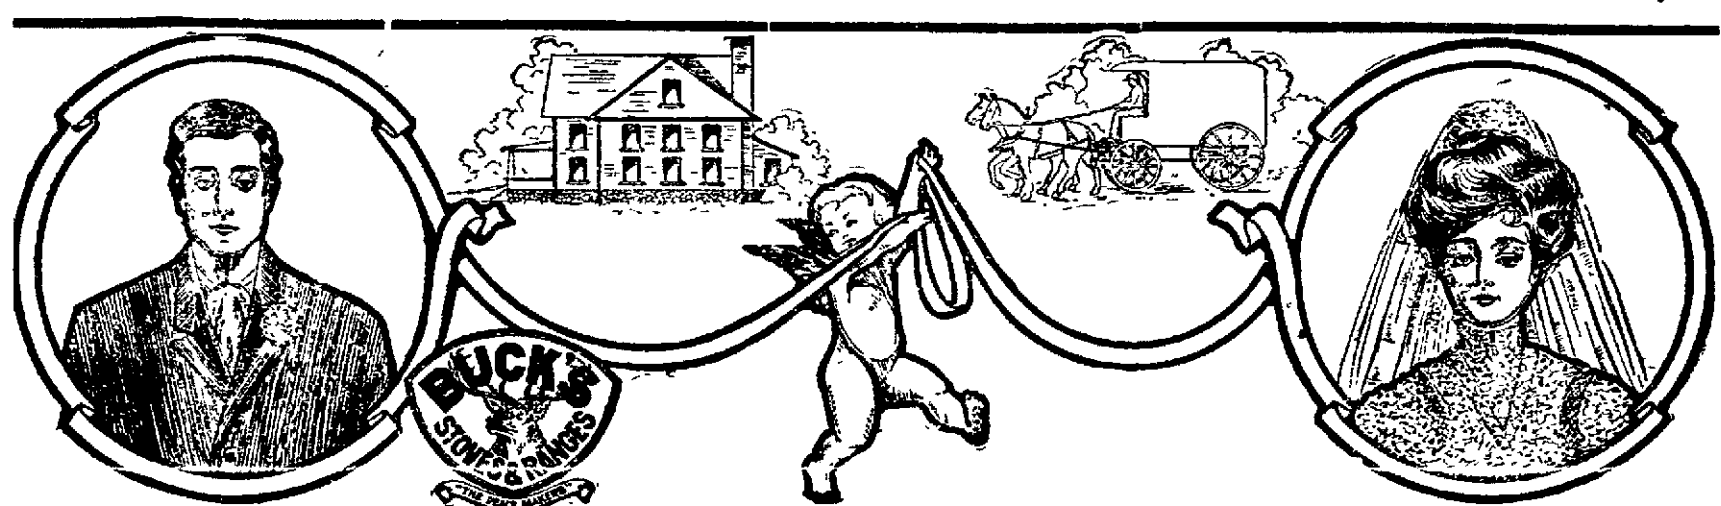

The prison ship martyrs were soldiers and sailors in the American army in the war of independence. After being taken prisoners they were sent on board the old hulk Jersey, anchored off the Wallabout basin, adjacent to Fort Greene. Most of the prisoners died from disease, lack of nourishment and exposure. Many of them were buried on shore close to the ship. Years ago some of their bones were removed from the present navy yard and buried with military honors in Fort Greene park. About ten or twelve years ago more skeletons were dug up, and these, too, were laid away with the others in Fort Greene.

Millionaire's Wife Cooks.

Mrs. James L. Henry of Lincoln, N. H., though her husband is worth over $20,000,000, does her own cooking, says the Washington Post. She might have every wish gratified and keep a string of servants at her beck and call, but that would deprive her of the pleasure of standing beside a hot range and cooking the household meals, so she sticks to the simple life.

In her younger days she was considered the neatest housekeeper of her native town, so now that her husband is the lumber king of New England and nominal owner of an entire township covered with virgin forest, she adheres to her childhood training and remains a model housekeeper. Though she owns magnificent diamonds and seal skins, she leaves all fashion in dress and household furnishings to her son's wives and two married daughters in Minnesota. Her sons each have an auto, and her husband employs 800 men, but this makes no difference to her.

Too Wet.

The crew of a certain life saving station on the New England coast has had little to do of late because of the rarity of wrecks in that immediate vicinity. Nevertheless the crew had in the past frequently proved its bravery and efficiency.

The practice drills of the crew last summer drew much satirical comment from the people at the summer resorts near by, who looked upon such practice as an entertainment devised for their especial amusement.

One rainy day at the appointed time the crew failed to appear at practice. The summer boarders on the veranda of the hotel waited in vain for the exhibition which should vary the monotony of a dull day. Finally one of them went over to the quarters of the crew to learn the reason.

"Aren't you going to practice today?" asked he.

"Not today, sir."

"Why not?"

"Then the brave life saver, hero of many rough seas in the past, made an explanatory gesture toward the sky and said: 'What, in this rain?—Harper's Weekly.'

COCK FIGHT WAS FORESTALLED BY SHERIFF AND HIS DEPUTIES

A cock fight, which promised to be one of the biggest events ever pulled off in Licking county, and which was scheduled to take place at a point about two miles south of Utica Monday night, was nipped in the bud by Sheriff Redman and a number of deputies. The promoters of the affair had secured a large barn, inside of which they had built a pit and amphitheatre, capable of accommodating several hundred people. About thirty chickens had been entered and the program included a large number of events. Invitations had been sent out to sporting men all over the country, including Newark, Mt. Vernon and Zanesville, and the indications were that there would have been a large attendance. The event, however, was tipped off to Sheriff Redman and Monday afternoon he detailed Deputy Sheriff Hindel and several assistants to go to the scene and put a stop to the fight. The officers arrived on the scene at a late hour in the afternoon and found everything quiet. The word had evidently gone out that the Sheriff was wise and only half a dozen men showed up during the entire evening. They were told that there would be nothing doing and when they found out that the place was in possession of the officers they quickly vanished in the darkness.

EASTERN OHIO LEAGUE DIES A-BORNIN'-KING CO. TEAM IS OUT

Local Team May Get in on Four Team Circuit to Take Place of the League—Interest in Eastern Ohio Was Lacking.

Coshocton, April 23.—The last meeting of the Eastern Ohio baseball league was held in the P. H. A. C. club rooms at Dennison, Sunday. The only cities represented were Coshocton, Steubenville and Twin Cities. Late in the afternoon a telegram was read from Manager Fox of Newark, stating that he was unable to attend the meeting but would be satisfied with whatever action was taken.

It was decided by those in charge, that the only reasonable thing to do was to drop the project all together, and that was the final result.

It is just possible that the officers of the league may arrange a schedule for the four cities, Newark, Coshocton, Twin Cities and Steubenville and obtain their O. K. regarding it. Action will probably be taken on that question within the next few days.

If the Eastern Ohio league is not organized, Coshocton will have the same good baseball season. Manager Speck of the P. H. A. C. team wants a "double header" here Decoration Day.

Rid Yourself of Unnecessary Burdens—A Newark Citizen Shows You How.

Don't bear unnecessary burdens. Burdens of a bad back are unnecessary. Get rid of them. Doan's Kidney Pills cure bad backs; Cure lame, weak and aching backs; Cure every form of kidney ills. Lots of local endorsement to prove this.

E. S. Cramer, proprietor of a livery and boarding stable at 59 West Main street, and living at 95 Eddy street, Newark, O., says:

"I endured backache for a long time before I knew that it originated from the kidneys. I felt well in every way but my back was a continual misery to me. There was dull aching in the loins, extending around to the left side. If I remained in one position for any length of time and then attempted to move quickly, sharp shooting pains would strike me, sometimes in one place and sometimes in another. I tried liniments and used several remedies with no effect. Hearing at length of Doan's Kidney Pills I got a box at Crayton's drug store. It is really remarkable how quick I found relief. The remedy seemed to attack the cause of my trouble and in time it so eradicated every sign and symptom of it that for the 18 months since I used Doan's Kidney Pills I have had no return of my trouble."

two to 18 big acts going all the time. Newark people who had planned to go to the circus need not change their plans because of the threatening weather. The big tents are constructed for just such weather as this. The material used is made solely for this purpose and after being woven the canvas which is extra heavy, is immersed in a preparation for fireproofing and waterproofing. All seams are heavily protected and there is no chance for leakage.

Elephant Kelley, one of the best known characters in Newark, attracted as much attention in the parade this morning as any one feature of the big show, not excepting the women who rode on "both sides" of their horses. Kelley joined the troupe at Columbus last week. He is an old elephant man, and is as much at home on the heads of the big beasts, as most people would be in a street car. Kelley bowed right and left and waved his hook to his numerous friends. People who did not know him thought that he was some distinguished personage bowing to the populace.

Out of Sight.

"Out of sight out of mind," is an old saying which applies with special force to a sore, burn or wound that's been treated with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It's out of sight, out of mind and out of existence. Piles too and chilblains disappear under its healing influence. Guaranteed by F. D. Hall, druggist. 25c.

PRIZE FIGHT POSTPONED.

An attempt to bring about a pugilistic bout met with defeat Tuesday for some unknown reason. Although it was planned to pull off a match on circus day the promoters gave it up for some unknown reason.

It is understood that two Newark Afro-Americans, who have had some experience in the ring, were engaged to meet at Buckeye Lake and that each was to receive $25 for the pains and bruises. Why the meeting was planned for Tuesday can only be explained by the fact that the Newark police department would have its hands full with the circus visitors and could not interfere with it. One man stated that in his opinion the affair was given up because of the fact that quite a number of men who had guaranteed their support gave the matter up for the circus.

Coshocton, April 23.—The first baseball game of the season will be next Saturday, April 27, when the Newark O.-P. league team will battle with a picked team representing Coshocton. Everything has been arranged and the contest is anxiously awaited with great interest.

Pitcher Quailley of Dennison, who will probably pitch the game at Newark Sunday, stated that he felt sure Coshocton's team was a stronger hitting aggregation and he would not be surprised to see Coshocton win both games.

First basemen, Gerseline and Caldwell, and fielders Tish, Slaughter and Duffy, begin practice at Riverside park, and the members of P. H. A. C. who will play also begin work today.

Mr. Murrell has mastered the complex calendar, and as Mr. Smith made him a personal present of a typewritten copy of the calendar he prizes it very highly.

An Excellent Performance This Afternoon, and Another to Be Given Tonight.

A few hours late, but nevertheless in good trim, the big Forepaugh-Sells circus arrived in Newark over the B. & O. from Columbus, having transferred from the Big Four there, after exhibiting in Marion Monday.

The Forepaugh-Sells combined circus carries 1000 people all of whom are accommodated at the circus grounds and on the train.

The big tents were pitched on the Flory grounds at Eleventh and Church streets. In the parade five big bands furnished music, the crowned band being the musical feature of the parade. Besides the cages there are mounted herds and couriers and beautiful women.

The big zoo of the circus is the most complete of any traveling circus now on the road. There are large herds of elephants and camels.

The most magnificent giraffe in captivity is in the Forepaugh-Sells zoo. He is 14 feet in height and is worth just $1,000 per foot.

SALUTE THE FLAG

The Columbus recruiting station has its own colors, a beautiful blue silk flag, in which is interwoven the coat of arms of the United States, and it was unfurled to the breezes for the first time Monday morning, when the first grand dress parade of the spring was held on the parade grounds in front of the adjutant's office, beginning at 11:20 o'clock. The big military band played "To the Colors," the recruiting flag and the national flag, which were borne in the middle of the parade, for the first time, by color bearers, and the entire post turned out to witness the spectacle.

As the colors were borne past the adjutant's office, where the officers were assembled watching the parade, the officers removed their hats and the women who were seated near, arose to their feet, as a salute. Several civilians who were standing near were also asked to remove their hats. "I shall insist on everyone removing his hat when the national colors are being carried in this parade and on other occasions of the kind," said Colonel Glenn. "Everybody should show as much respect to the flag of the United States, and I intend to enforce such respect here, if necessary, not only among ourselves but among all who may be here upon such occasions."

Douglass, who is under arrest on a charge of larceny, were recovered in an apartment in the Manhattan club. Dennett, a broker, whose name has been mentioned in the case, said they had nothing to say about the matter.

Gimbel's Remains.

New York, April 23.—The body of Benedict Gimbel, the Philadelphia merchant who died in St. Mary's hospital, Hoboken, was taken to Philadelphia. The coroner was called to the hospital, but as the case was plain a certificate of death giving suicide as the cause was given and the body turned over to the family.

AN EXPOSITION WITH A WARPATH

WHAT THE JAMESTOWN FAIR MEANS AND WHY IT IS A MILEPOST IN AMERICAN HISTORY.

Rich In Historical Association, the Enterprise Celebrates the Three Hundredth Year of the New World's Settlement. Why It Is Not a "Tomato Can" Exposition—None So Attractive In Outlying Features—Grand Naval and Military Displays.

By ROBERTUS LOVE.
IN these days the exposition, like the poor, we have always with us. It is scarcely as long between expositions in America as it is supposed to be between drinks in North and South Carolina. If all the expositions were held in the same section of the country the public would become gorged and surfeited and after the first two or three would have none of them. But fortunately Uncle Sam's land is so vast that we may plant an industrial fair here this year, there next year and somewhere else the year following, and each is a new and interesting thing in its own time and territory.

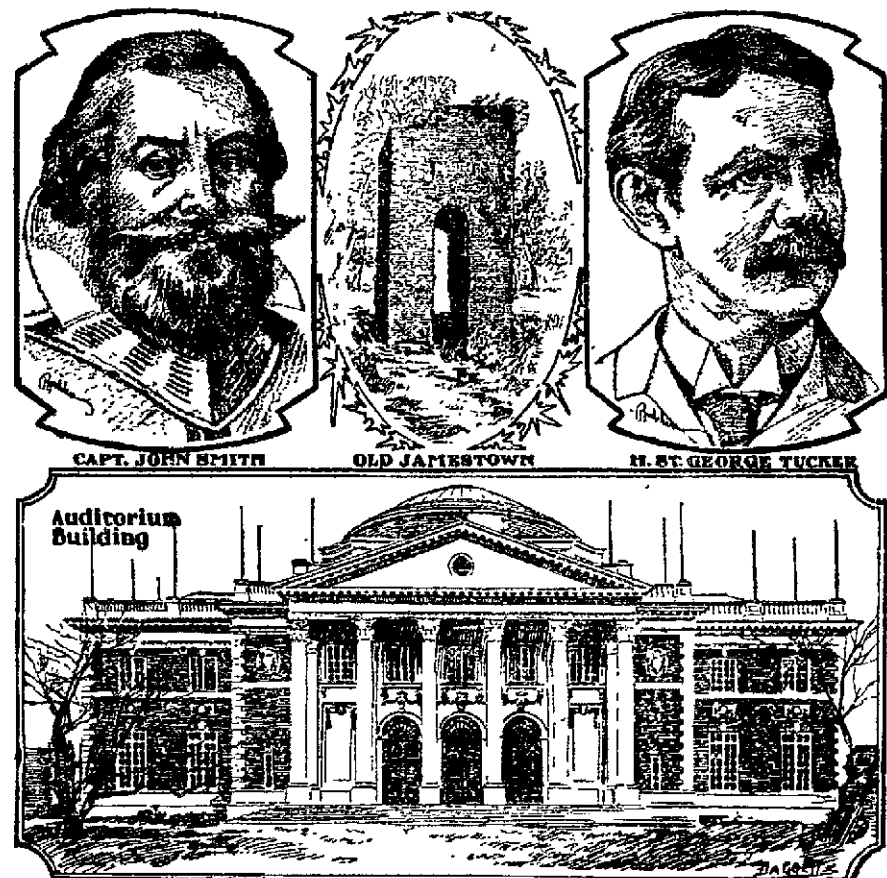

The Jamestown Tercentennial exposition, for instance, is located in virgin territory. It is the first in its section of the United States. The traditional 500 mile radius from which an enterprise of this sort draws its chief support has not been combed and curried for patronage by other expositions. This Jamestown enterprise, opening April 26, to run until the last day of November, does not double up on any similar spectacle held heretofore. In its own territory it is new and fresh, and outside of this limitation it has its own excuse for being. It is the natural outgrowth of historical and sentimental necessity.

Being the mother of invention, necessity needs must invent an exposition with particular reference to the magnificent seaway mentioned and all its opportunities for marine and naval attractions. The visitor may take a boat up the James river and see the remains of old Jamestown, chiefly an ancient brick church tower, two or three old cemeteries, the foundations of the first Virginia house of burgesses and a few other historic buildings. For the rest he will find a truck farm, with fields of peanuts flourishing and droves of shoats outside the fence longing to reach the peanuts. The site of the old town is now an island, though originally it was a peninsula. The water has cut through the neck of the peninsula and isolated the venerable remains of the earliest settlement of English speaking people on the continent that stayed put long enough to take root and ultimately develop into the greatest of the world's republics.

Replete With Historical Interest.

This trip up the James, by the way, will be popular, as will various other water journeys in the neighborhood of the exposition. The Jamestown fair has a remarkable richness of historical association, and that is one of its principal assets. You cannot touch a spot within a hundred miles of Norfolk without coming in contact with historic soil. Plenty of sections have their places of local historical interest.

to celebrate the three hundredth year of English civilization on this continent. The Jamestown tercentennial thus came into being. Some few of history's mileposts call for decorative effects, so that the public attention may be focused upon them and reflected back against the events which have contributed to progress. The three hundredth year of the settlement of the new world by persons speaking the English tongue deserves to have its decorative milepost. That is what the Jamestown exposition means.

A Town That Is No More.

School children no doubt know a great deal more about Jamestown than the average grownup. Most grownups read in the school books about Jamestown and John Smith and Pocahontas and Powhatan, but in the stress and press of maturer life they have retained only faint recollections thereof. Perhaps this lack of remembering is due in some measure to the fact that Jamestown itself is no more. It has not been a local habitation—merely a name—for more than 200 years. There is no such town as Jamestown, Va. There was such a town from 1607 to about 1698, but in the latter year the remnants of the town were removed to Williamsburg, a few miles away, and in the language of one who is not a classicist, "only the remains remain."

There are two reasons why the Jamestown exposition is not held at Jamestown. One is indicated by the foregoing remarks—there is no Jamestown. The other is that if the projectors of this fair had planned the project on the site of the defunct settlement of Jamestown their enterprise would have suffered the fate of the early colonists, most of whom perished before they finally succeeded in establishing a feeble colony, which managed to last until a fitter site was found.

The Jamestown exposition is located at the entrance of Hampton Roads, about six miles from the city of Norfolk. This location gives the enterprise its chief charm—a salt water adjunct which comprises the seven seas, Southeast Virginia is internationally historical. Hardly fifteen miles from the Jamestown site, even then a deserted ruin, Lord Cornwallis surrendered to George Washington, and Yorktown ended the war for American independence. During the civil war the contending armies fought over every mile of that territory. The land along the York and James rivers from the exposition site up to Richmond is strung with battlefields where were fought some of the fiercest conflicts of the war. The exposition people know a good thing when they see it lying around loose, and they have picked up this "historic association" plum and polished it for its full enticement to the visitor.

A Fine Sham Battle.

Not only the land, but likewise the water, is historic. The battle between the Merrimack and the Monitor was fought just off the exposition grounds. Uncle Sam has made a special appropriation of $10,000 to reproduce that famous naval engagement. Dummy ships corresponding in aspect to the Yankee cheese box, with its revolving turret, and to the ironclad Merrimack, or Virginia, as she was called by the Confederates, are to be constructed. The sham battle promises to supply a spectacle which will put all other pyrotechnic displays into a dense shade. Right across the way is Fortress Monroe, where Jefferson Davis was imprisoned after the war. Rising from the waters of the Roads is the famous Rip-Raps fort, originally named after John C. Calhoun. Not far away is the Norfolk navy yard, still another "pick up" as an attraction for the exposition visitor.

In fact, both land and water all in and around the grounds of the exposition simply seethe with history, and the sort of history which we read about in books. There have been exhibitions bigger in themselves than this, but none so attractive in its outlying features. Even the dull spirit that knows nothing of history and cares less must learn by absorption when visiting this fair, and this is by no means the least valuable thing about it.

As to the exposition itself, the part that is embraced within a unique floral fence on the land side and the shore of Hampton Roads on the other, there is much to admire. The very best thing about it perhaps is that it is not a "tomato can" exposition. By the tomato can exposition is meant the enormous aggregation of canned fruits and other mercantile products, familiarly known as "exhibits," which have bordered miles and miles of aisles and aisles in previous fairs. The Jamestown affair is to be sufficiently industrial to represent properly the products of Virginia and a number of other states, but the industrial feature is not made paramount.

Military, naval and social, these are the terms frequently employed to express the paramount features of the Jamestown tercentennial. These terms embrace actually the historical features. Some time ago an enthusiastic press agent of the fair caused to be printed broadcast a statement that "war with all its enticement splendors" would be shown as never before. This drew from a group of eminent peace workers a strong letter of protest. The purpose of the exposition, however, is not to glorify war, but to put on display, so far as the military side of it goes, the necessary trappings of war, both ashore and afloat. Undoubtedly the projectors of the fair have paid more attention to these features than to any others and with excellent reason. They are the sort of things which the average man and woman like to see.

Commissioners were sent to Europe and the orient, working up interest in the naval and military participation. The result is that most of the great nations of the world will be fitly represented in these lines. A dozen of the nations have ordered sections of their navies to be present, while many will send bodies of picked troops to encamp on the grounds. Thus the visitor may witness from day to day the maneuvers of smart vessels belonging to the navies of many nations, and he may see foreign troops in camp and on parade. Such an assembly of war vessels and fighting men never was attempted before. As the exposition progresses it will be discovered that this feature is paramount.

State Hospitality a Feature.

Socially the Jamestown tercentennial must appeal to most of us. Virginia hospitality is noted. Moreover, it is not a mere name. If any one of the participating states fails to profit by the spirit of Virginian hospitality which pervades the atmosphere it will be a sad thing for the future reputation of the offending state. Built along the shore of Hampton Roads, the group of houses from which state hospitality will be dispensed presents a very pretty picture. The corn and cotton and spinach and tomatoes from the various commonwealths, not to forget the big red apple and the bluish peach, are accommodated in one big structure, called the States Exhibit palace, thus leaving the individual state buildings free for entertainment purposes. Many of these buildings are reproductions of historic structures. Georgia, for instance, has Bulloch Hall, the home of President Roosevelt's mother. Massachusetts has her famous old statehouse. The visitor who cares to find outside entertainment may reach any of the noted summer resorts along the ocean shore and on the roads by a short sail or a trolley trip. Old Point Comfort is just across the way, with Newport News, Virginia Beach and other watering places in easy range.

One of the prettiest sections of the exposition is devoted to the arts and crafts. There is an Arts and Crafts village, a group of cozy buildings like an enticing bit of southern California set down on the eastern coast.

Then there is the War Path. Every fair must have its amusement street. The public cries for it. At Chicago we did the Midway. At St. Louis we went down the Pike. At Portland we hit the Trail. At Jamestown we will go on the War Path.

The War Path.

This very fitting name was bestowed by a man who himself had gone on the warpath in two wars with high credit to himself and his cause. General Fitz-Hugh Lee, who was the first president of the exposition, named the War Path. General Lee worked enthusiastically for the success of the Jamestown tercentennial, dying in harness. Then the Hon. H. St. George Tucker, former congressman, another noted Virginian, was chosen president and took up the work which the old soldier laid down.

The United States government, as at former expositions, is a hearty participant at Jamestown. In addition to its general displays, the government has contributed to the success of the enterprise by constructing a great pier or, rather, two great piers joined at the outer end, far out into the waters of Hampton Roads. The portion of salt water embraced within the piers corresponds to the lagoon of other fairs, but it is obviously more interesting. It will afford opportunity for all kinds of minor aquatic contests, while beyond the piers the great ships will maneuver, and there will be yacht races, motor boat competitions and no end of thrills.

Pretty Bit of Stage Business.

Mme. Donaldo introduced a novel bit of stage business into her singing of "The Last Rose of Summer" in "Manhattan" the other evening at the Manhattan Opera House in New York. Holding a pink rose as she sang, she slowly pulled the petals off one by one after the manner of the girl who is trying "he loves me, he loves me not." Scoldon has she sang better, and the large audience insisted on a repetition, which was granted, says the New York Times. It was practically Mme. Donaldo's farewell at the Manhattan.

GRAND PRIZE OVER ALL POULTRY SHOWS - WORLD'S FAIR

IN POLICE COURT.

J. B. Miles, whose name was mentioned in the police court news Monday, was dismissed from custody, the prosecution failing to make any case against him at all. Miles was charged with obtaining repair work from Newark people by representing that he was from the Phelps repair shop. The testimony showed that he did not make such representations, and that he solicited work from some thirty or more people, all of whom were more than satisfied with his work. The case in question was one in which he secured a carpet sweeper and did not return it on schedule time. All charges against him were dismissed by the court.

Miss Marjorie was one of the defendants arraigned before Mayor McCleary Tuesday morning, Marjorie being charged with drunk and disorderly conduct at the Orphum Theatre. He was fined $10 and costs. The Orphum management does not propose to tolerate any disorder of any description in the theatre and disorderly characters will be dealt with severely. This is only one of the cases where the management has taken prompt action. It is their intention to protect their patrons from any indignities.

Will Be Deported.

New York, April 23.—Enrico Alfano, alleged leader in Italy of the secret and criminal Camorra society of Naples, who was arrested in this city last week during a police raid on the East Side, was turned over to the immigration authorities, by whom he will be deported to Italy. Alfano escaped from that country shortly after the mysterious murder of one Cuccolo and his wife, crimes of which Alfano and other workers in the ranks of the Camorra are accused. Fear of Cuccolo's ascendancy in power in the Camorra is mentioned as the motive for the murders.

Eight Hundred Out.

Irwin, Pa., April 23.—About 800 men employed at the Larimer coke ovens of the United States Steel corporation went on strike for a 10 per cent increase in wages. Two hundred ovens were ready to be drawn, but were left burning by the men. The strikers, who were ordered off the company's property, immediately surrounded the plant. Special police are guarding the ovens.

AT THE ORPHUM.

The Orphum presented a very fair bill last evening to a large audience. The chief feature perhaps is Miss Laura Buckley, in impersonations. This lady, who is a central Ohio product, gave 12 minutes of delightful mimicry, her facial expression and voice being of the best. The Bean and Hamilton team in novelty barrel jumping, can give pointers to any artists in this line of work who have yet appeared at the Orphum. They are first class. The Taree Hylands have a very good musical, dancing and singing turn. Mr. Hyland in his trombone work, and young Hyland, with the baton being the leading features. Mr. Heath did not appear on account of illness, and left Miss Walsh at a disadvantage, but she sang some very fetching songs. The bill as a whole is up to the standard

The Mother-in-law.

A certain mother-in-law had stopped so often with her daughter as to cause a quarrel with the husband, and one day when she again came to stay she found her daughter in tears on the doorstep. "I suppose George has left you," she sniffed. "Yes"—sob. "Then there's a woman in the case?" she asked, her eyes lighting up expectantly. "Yes"—sob. "Who is it?" she demanded. "You"—sob. "Gracious!" exclaimed the mother-in-law. "I am sure I never gave him any encouragement."—Bellman.

The French Government set aside $22,000 during the past year to aid organizations which provide assistance to their members during unemployment.

Thinking he killed his son, whom he floored in a quarrel, William R. Johnson, 35, of Stamping Ground, Ky., walked into an adjoining room and blew out his brains.

Saving Starts Every Fortune

None of the great fortunes that mark the wealth of the many millionaires were started other than by saving. The first dollar saved helped to make later investments possible.

We cannot all be millionaires, but every man can at least own his own home if the saving habit is acquired and then persistently followed.

Our savings accounts present an ideal way for the man of large or small means to deposit his surplus money.

COURT HOUSE NEWS

In the case of Wm. E. Miller as receiver of the Newark Iron and Steel Company vs. The Colonial Trust Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., the defendants have filed their answers to the additional answers and cross petitions of the Franklin Bank Company. They admit that the Colonial Trust Company has for itself no real or pecuniary interest in the trust deed or lien created thereby, but it is merely the trustee in the deed, holding the same in trust for the owners and holders of the bonds secured thereby, and that the owners of the bonds are the real and only persons entitled to the money, if anything, that is payable under and by reason of the lien created by the trust deed. It admits that on or about the 15th of June, 1906, it was informed and then believed that H. W. Keller, T. W. Phillips, O. D. Bleakley, J. W. Lee, Geo. H. Emerson, S. B. Bishop, J. P. Sharp, H. J. Henne, T. B. Moreland, W. T. Graham, M. L. Lockwood, H. J. Bock, and C. H. Duncan were then holders of bonds secured by the mortgage, and trust deed described, but says all the bonds of the series of bonds are not registered bonds, but were and are negotiable by delivery only, and that defendant did not then know, and does not know now of its own knowledge, that the parties were then holders of the bonds and admits that the Newark Iron and Steel company has become wholly insolvent.

The answering defendant denies that, after the organization of the Newark Iron and Steel company, it issued any of the bonds described in the mortgage or trust deed mentioned in the petition and this defendant's answer and cross petition, or secured or attempted to secure said bonds, or any of them by said mortgage or trust deed. It denies that the amount of the bonds held by each of the persons mentioned in the additional answer and cross petition of the Franklin Bank company, is known to it; that the answering defendant has not sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to the several other matters alleged in the additional answer and cross petition and denies each of them. Henderson, Livesay & Burr and Jones & Jones, attorneys for the Colonial Trust company.
